STEFANIE DÖRR'S EXPERT EVENT TAKES PLACE FOR THE SIXTH TIME

Increasing the joy life and sensuality

Female experts from the field of eroticism, sexuality, health, and entertainment meet on October 23, 2010, at 19:00 in the "galerie open" in Berlin Kreuzberg, Germany.

For the sixth instalment of this expert gathering, the organiser of the event, Stefanie Dörr, who is also a sculptor and the owner of the Playstixx manufacture, has not only invited owners of erotic stores. On October 23, 2010, women from a wide range of markets, also from the health and entertainment markets, will meet to exchange experiences, ideas, and information, to celebrate, and to network. The venue will be the "galerie open by Alexandra Rockelmann", Legiendamm 18-20, 10179 Berlin, Germany.

Already last year, the decision was made to make the event bigger, both in terms of space and content. "The event is a platform for increasing the joy of life and lust", explains Stefanie Dörr, who has been manufacturing dildos and vibrators with great care and respect for the female sexuality since 1996. This year, she organises the event in collaboration with Vanessa del Rae, Sensuality-School, and Ursula Grüning, Public Relations. In the past years, the owners of erotic shops made up the majority of visitors, who met at the Playstixx manufacture after the October erotic trade fairs to talk and celebrate in a relaxed, amiable atmosphere. This year, the spectrum will be much wider. Female experts from various fields will join the pioneers of the young female erotic scene. This diversity is also reflected in the informative and inspiring lectures that are part of the programme:

The swinging of relaxed muscles in the pelvic base is a focal point in the work of Annette Trost, who works as a psychologist and alternative practitioner in Berlin. The psychologist Susanna Ganarin talks about Profamilia's psychological view on women and sexuality.

Silke Maschinger, a social scientist, presents the Erotic Salon, Berlin, which has been offering a combination of erotic and sensual entertainment, information, and inspiration since 2005.

Dr. Laura Merrit, a communication scientist who is the head behind Sexclusivitäten and the "Freitags Freuden Salon" (Friday Joy Salon) in Berlin, talks about the "European Feministic Porn Film Award". Alexandra Haas, a linguist and owner of the "Special Moments" erotic store in Zurich, presents her book "Speisekarte der Lustspiele" (Menu of Love Games), that offers couples advice on how to breathe live and lust back into a relationship by playing and experimenting.

The event starts at 21:00, and interested men are obviously also invited to celebrate and network. No guest will have to go hungry or thirsty; there will be a buffet with a variety of sensual snacks and drinks. In the service of joy and lust, Stefanie

Dörr, the sculptor and entrepreneurs, continues to manufacture new sex toys for women to help them explore and enjoy their sexuality. These high-quality sex toys are outstanding not only due to their extraordinary aesthetics, but also because of their quality and body-friendliness. Fee to cover costs:
